

Pablo Atchugarry

Born 1954 in Montevideo, Uruguay
Lives and works in Lecco and Manantiales

Pablo Atchugarry was born in Montevideo, Uruguay, on 23 August 1954. His parents, Maria Cristina Bonomi and Pedro Atchugarry Rizzo, passionate art enthusiasts, identified Pablo's artistic talent and interest when he was still a child and encouraged him to pursue a career as an artist. In his earliest works, he expressed himself through painting, gradually discovering other materials such as cement, iron, wood and eventually carrara marble. In early 2007, Atchugarry opened the Fundación Pablo Atchugarry in Manantiales, Uruguay, with the aim of providing a stimulus for the arts and creating a place for artists of all disciplines to meet in an ideal location that combines nature and art. In 2021, together with world renown architect Carlos Ott, Atchugarry established MACA, the Atchugarry Museum of Contemporary Art, Uruguay's first international art museum. He currently lives and works between Lecco and Manantiales, where he continues his artistic career and oversees the development of MACA, the Fundación Pablo Atchugarry and the international monumental sculpture park.
